February 25th Meeting : "Guilt-Free Wine and Chocolate in the Garden"

What's not to like about wine and chocolate? Kelly Bryant, master gardener and Cantigny volunteer will share ideas to bring decadence to the garden as we learn about using the rich, full bodied colors of wine colored foliage and flowers effectively in beds and containers. For dessert, try a taste of chocolate (or dark colored) plants with names or scents that will satisfy your sweet tooth. Come away with ideas for creating your own chocolate themed garden!

Faith Community Church at 910 Main Street in West Chicago.
7:15 - brief business meeting, 7:30 - speaker

Next Meeting: Thursday, March 25th: "DON'T USE THE WORST FIRST!"

Good Bugs, Bad Bugs - January 2010 Meeting

At our 1st meeting of the new year veteran master gardener, Julie Moore, led us on a GSI - Garden Scene Investigation - to explore how to tell the good bugs from the bad ones. Some good bug examples include the spined soldier beetle (certainly didn't look "good" to me!) who eats other bad bugs, and the aphid parasite (a small black wasp) who attacks aphids and leaves them looking like mummies. The photos were great. Julie helped us understand how integrated plant management strategies can help control the bad bugs and leave us with healthier gardens.

Farewell Lorraine

Lorraine Biang, long-time GC member and friend, has moved to Indiana. Her cheerful attitude and ready volunteerism were generous gifts we all appreciated.

On Feb 5th, a group of friends gathered at the Childress' home for lunch and good-byes. At Lorraine's request, Dorothy O'Conner read her card aloud for the group to appreciate....

When twilight pulls the curtain back
And pins it with a star
Don't forget you have a friend
No matter where you are.

We will miss you Lorraine! Thank you for your contributions to our club!

February News From Kruse by Angie & Billie: Kruse Garden Coordinators

An Encyclopedia of Heirloom Ornamental Plants, 1640-1940, by Denise Wiles Adams was published in 2004. It is a remarkable book of history and horticulture with emphasis on American history that connects us with national roots and cherished past generations. This book is a treasure trove of information as well as heart warming. Much information for this reference was obtained from nursery plant or seed catalogs of the day, augmented and confirmed by period books and magazines. I thought it would be fun to share bits of history on select Kruse Garden plants.

Smoke tree, Cotinus coggygria, several installed in the gardens over the last few years

Earliest American citation: George Washington, ca 1786

Remarks: "It is beautiful, curious, and desirable" (Scott 1870)

Rose of Sharon, Hibiscus syriacus, northeast corner foundation planting & se border

Earliest American citation: John Custis 1736

Design notes: "The altheas are fine, free growing and free blooming shrubs, of the easiest cultivation. Very desirable on account of blooming in the autumn months, when scarcely any other tree or shrub is in blossom" Eellwanger & Barry, New York, 1860)

American columbine, Aquilegia Canadensis, scattered through back garden

Earliest American citation: Jean Skipwith, ca. 1800

Design notes: "The debonair little red-and-yellow native sort [of columbine]...is fit to bring into the garden to shine among the best...(Wilder 1918)

Lance-leaf coreopsis, Coreopsis lanceolata, back garden

Earliest American citation: M'Mahon, Philadelphia, 1804

Design notes: "Coreopsis lanceolata is a very charming plant for front rows, especially if it can have a place where it is given the benefit of contrast with a white flower, like the daisy" (Rexford 1912)

Bleeding heart, Dicentra spectabilis, planted by garage & in Angie's garden

Earliest American citation: The Horticulturist, July 1854

Description: "Very curious and beautiful, immensely hardy, long in bloom, foliage neat, flowers pendant ,from arcs or sprays, ...(Bloomington Nursery, Illinois, 1868)

Dame's rocket, Hesperis matronalis, back garden...has proved to be invasive

Earliest American citation: Spurrier, 1793

Description: "A vigorous, hardy, herbaceous perennial plant forming clumps 2-3 ft high, branched from the base,and covered with showy terminal pyramidal spikes of 4 petaled flowers, resembling stocks....color range from white through lilac and pink to purple" (Bailey 1906)

If only there was space to share more! Enjoy your own garden heirloom plants and plan to enjoy those of the Kruse Gardens this year too. A&B

Sign up NOW to help prepare for the Plant Sale

The sign-up sheets for the potting 'parties' will be available at the February club meeting. Remember, you can earn Garden Dollars for helping!

Each weekend in April we will hold a potting party schedule as follows:

Saturday April 3, 9-12

Saturday April 10, 9-12

Sunday April 18, 1-4

Sunday April 25, 1-4

We need at least 14 volunteers at each session. There are jobs that fit everyone. Please think about when you can help.

We plan to work at a park district site this year, which should make our jobs even easier! We had superb potting crews last year and with all that experience, this year should be a piece of cake! All of us together make the plant sale the wonderful success it is.

I'm looking forward to working with you. - Billie Childress
